Cases concerning inhuman or degrading treatment (Article 3)

Violation of Article 3

Murray v. the Netherlands

26.04.2016

The case concerned the complaint by a man convicted of murder in 1980, who consecutively served his life sentence on the islands of Curaçao and Aruba (part of the Kingdom of the Netherlands) – until being granted a pardon in 2014 due to his deteriorating health –, about his life sentence without any realistic prospect of release.

Before the Court, Mr Murray initially complained, in particular, that his life sentence was irreducible and that there was no separate regime for life prisoners or a special regime for detainees with psychiatric problems in the prisons where he was being held. Following the conclusion of the periodic review of his sentence in 2012 he complained that even if a possibility of conditional release had been created under the law, de facto he had no hope of release as he had never been provided with any psychiatric treatment and therefore the risk of recidivism was considered too high for him to be eligible for such release.

Cases regarding private and family life (Article 8)

Violation of Article 8

Jeunesse v. the Netherlands

03.10.2014

The case concerned the refusal by the authorities to allow a Surinamese woman married to a Netherlands national, with whom she had three children, to reside in the Netherlands on the basis of her family life in the country.

No violations of Article 8

Right to a fair trial

M v. the Netherlands (no. 2156/10)

25.07.2017

The case concerned a former member of the Netherlands secret service who had been charged with leaking State secrets. The applicant, Mr M, complained before the European Court of Human Rights that the ensuing criminal proceedings had been unfair.

No violation of Article 6 §§ 1 and 3 (b) (right to legal assistance of own choosing) as regards redacting of certain documents and the alleged withholding of others

Violation of Article 6 §§ 1 and 3 (c) as regards the restrictions on the applicant's right to give information and instructions to counsel

No violation of Article 6 §§ 1 and 3 (d) as regards the conditions under which certain AIVD¹ members were heard as witnesses and the refusal to call certain other AIVD members as defence witnesses

The Court also decided that that it was not necessary to consider whether there has been a violation of Article 6 §§ 1 and 3 (c) as regards the limitation on revealing the names of AIVD members before the Court of Appeal.

Noteworthy cases, decisions delivered

Mustafić-Mujić and Others v. the Netherlands

22.09.2016

The applicants, relatives of men killed in the Srebrenica massacre of July 1995, imputed criminal responsibility to three Netherlands servicemen who were members of the UN peacekeeping force. They complained that the Netherlands authorities had wrongly refused to investigate and prosecute the servicemen for allegedly sending their relatives to their probable death by ordering them to leave the safety of the UN peacekeepers' compound after the Bosnian Serb forces had overrun Srebrenica and its environs.

Application declared inadmissible.

Adorisio and Others v. the Netherlands

17.03.2015

The case concerned the accelerated proceedings allowing bond holders to challenge the lawfulness of the Netherlands Government's expropriation of the assets they held in SNS Reaal, a banking and insurance conglomerate.

Application declared inadmissible.

Constancia v. the Netherlands

03.03.2015

The case concerned Mr Constancia's complaint about being detained as a person of "unsound mind" in the absence of a precise diagnosis of his mental state. Mr Constancia, who was convicted of the violent manslaughter of an eight-year old boy, had refused to be examined, making the assessment of his mental condition impossible.

Application declared inadmissible as manifestly ill-founded.

A.M.E. v. the Netherlands (no. 51428/10)

13.01.2015

The case concerned a Somali asylum-seeker's claim that, if transferred to Italy, he would be subjected to harrowing living conditions.

Application declared inadmissible as manifestly ill-founded.

Stichting Mothers of Srebrenica and Others v. the Netherlands

11.06.2013

The case concerned the complaint by relatives of victims of the 1995 Srebrenica massacre, and by an NGO representing victims' relatives, of the Netherlands courts' decision to declare their case against the United Nations (UN) inadmissible on the ground that the UN enjoyed immunity from national courts' jurisdiction. The applicants alleged in particular that their right of access to court had been violated by that decision.

Application declared inadmissible as manifestly ill-founded.

Mohammed Hussein v. the Netherlands and Italy

02.04.2013

The case concerned a Somali asylum seeker who claimed in particular that she and her two young children would be subjected to ill-treatment if transferred from the Netherlands to Italy under the Dublin Regulation.

Application declared inadmissible: The Court found in particular that, if returned to Italy, the future prospects of Ms Mohammed Hussein and her two children did not disclose a sufficiently real and imminent risk of hardship severe enough to fall within the scope of Article 3.

Ramaer and van Willigen v. the Netherlands

23.10.2012

The case concerned the effects of the changes in the Netherlands health insurance system introduced on 1 January 2006 on recipients of Netherlands pensions resident in European Union Member States other than the Netherlands. There are, according to the applicants, 40,000 persons concerned, particularly in Spain, Portugal, France and Belgium.

Application declared inadmissible

Schilder v. the Netherlands

16.10.2012

The parish priest of a Catholic church complained that pursuant to a new by-law the church bell could not be rung between 11 p.m. and 7.30 a.m. above a certain volume.

Application declared inadmissible

Djokaba Lambi Longa v. the Netherlands

09.10.2012

The case concerned a Congolese national transferred to the International Criminal Court (ICC) to give evidence as a defence witness, who applied for asylum in the Netherlands after giving testimony.

Application declared inadmissible: ruling for the first time on the issue of the power to keep individuals in custody of international criminal tribunals having their seat within the territory of a Contracting State, the Court concluded that the applicant, detained on the territory of a Contracting State (the Netherlands) by an international criminal tribunal (the ICC) under arrangements entered into with a State not party to the Convention (the Democratic Republic of the Congo) did not fall within the jurisdiction of the Netherlands.

F.A.K. v. the Netherlands

(no. 30112/09)

23.10.2012

Intended deportation of an imam understood by the Netherlands authorities to preach violent jihad (holy war). He has consistently claimed to be wanted by the authorities of his country of origin for political reasons. Complaints under Articles 3 (prohibition of inhuman or degrading treatment), 8 (right to respect for private life) and 13 (right to an effective remedy).

Application declared inadmissible

Staatkundig Gereformeerde Partij v. the Netherlands

10.07.2012

The Supreme Court ruled against the applicant, a political party, for not allowing women members to run for elections.

The applicant complained of an infringement of its right of freedom of religion (Article 9), freedom of expression (Article 10) and freedom of assembly and association (Article 11).

Application declared inadmissible

Ramzy v. the Netherlands

20.07.2010

Alleged risk of treatment contrary to Article 3 (prohibition of inhuman or degrading treatment) in case of expulsion of an acquitted terrorist suspect to Algeria.

Case struck out of the list: applicant no longer in contact with his representatives.

Van Anraat v. the Netherlands

06.07.2010

Criminal conviction of the applicant of having supplied a chemical to Iraq between 1984 and 1988 which was used to produce mustard gas that was subsequently used against civilians in Iraq and Iran. The applicant complained that the Supreme Court had failed to answer his argument that, since Saddam Hussein and Ali Hassan al-Majid al-Tikriti were beyond the jurisdiction of the Netherlands courts, he ought not to have been convicted as their accessory. He also complained that section 8 of the War Crimes Act, in referring to international law, did not comply with the requirement that criminal acts be described with sufficient precision.

Application declared inadmissible: When the applicant was committing the acts which ultimately led to his prosecution, there was nothing unclear about the criminal nature of the use of mustard gas either against an enemy in an international conflict or against a civilian population in border areas affected by an international conflict. Therefore, the applicant could reasonably have been expected to be aware of the state of the law and, if need be, to take appropriate advice

Kemevuako v. the Netherlands

25.06.2010

Concerned an application submitted out of time by an asylum seeker.

Application declared inadmissible: The Court emphasised the need for it to receive the originals of the application and authority forms, if the applicant was represented in the Strasbourg proceedings. Transmission by fax of those documents, without the originals, was insufficient to constitute a complete or valid application.

Galic v. the Netherlands and Blagojevic v. the Netherlands

09.06.2009

Allegations that proceedings conducted before, and decisions taken by, the International Criminal Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia violated Article 6 (right to a fair trial).

Application declared inadmissible: The Court is not competent to examine these allegations.

Cooperatieve Producentenorganisatie van de Nederlandse Kokkelvisserij U.A. v. the Netherlands

20.01.2009

Applicant association's complaint about the unfairness of proceedings before the Court of Justice of the European Communities (ECJ) with regard to its right to dredge cockles in a tidal wetland area, the Wadden Sea.

Application declared inadmissible: The applicant association had not shown that the fair trial guarantees available to it had been manifestly deficient. It had therefore failed to rebut the presumption that the procedure before the ECJ provided equivalent protection of its fundamental rights.
