Simeonovi v. Bulgaria

12.05.2017

The case concerned the absence of legal assistance for the first three days of the detention of Mr Simeonov, who was sentenced to life imprisonment, and the conditions of the detention and prison regime imposed on him.

Violation of Article 3

No violation of Article 6 §§ 1 and 3 (c) (right to a fair trial/right to legal assistance)

Stanev v. Bulgaria

17.01.2012

The case concerned a man forced to live for years in an unsanitary and dilapidated psychiatric institution with inadequate food and heating and no activities for residents.

Violation of Article 5 § 1 (right to liberty and security), in that the applicant was illegally detained

Violation of Article 5 § 4, concerning the impossibility for him to bring proceedings to have the lawfulness of his detention decided by a court

Violation of Article 5 § 5, concerning the impossibility for him to apply for compensation for his illegal detention and the lack of review by a court of the lawfulness of his detention

Violation of Article 3 (prohibition of degrading treatment), concerning the conditions in which he was forced to live

Violation of Article 13 (right to an effective remedy), concerning the impossibility for him to apply for compensation regarding his degrading living conditions

Violation of Article 6 § 1 (right to a fair hearing), in that he was denied access to a court to seek restoration of his legal capacity

Cases dealing with the right to life (Article 2)

Kutsarovi v. Bulgaria (no. 47711/19)

07.06.2022

The case concerned the death of the applicants' son, who died in 2009 while being escorted by the police to the offices of the Organised Crime Division.

No violation of Article 2

Y and Others v. Bulgaria (no. 9077/18)

22.03.2022

The case concerned the complaints brought by the mother and daughters of a victim of marital murder.

Violation of Article 2

No violation of Article 14 (prohibition of discrimination) read in conjunction with Article 2

O.D. v. Bulgaria (no. 34016/18)

10.10.2019

This case concerned an order made by the Bulgarian authorities for the expulsion to Syria of a former Syrian serviceman on the grounds that he posed a threat to national security.

The Court held that O.D.'s removal to Syria would amount to a violation of Article 2 and Article 3 (prohibition of torture and inhuman or degrading treatment) of the Convention.

The Court also held that there had been a violation of Article 13 (right to an effective remedy), read in conjunction with Articles 2 and 3.

The Court found, in particular, that in view of the overall situation in Syria and the individual risk faced by the applicant it could not be established that he could safely return to Syria.

Bulgarian Helsinki Committee v. Bulgaria

21.07.2016

The case concerned the death of two children with mental disabilities in special homes in which they had been placed, and the request submitted to the Court by an association specialising in human rights protection to grant it legal standing either as an indirect victim or as the representative of the two deceased adolescents.

Applications declared inadmissible as incompatible ratione personae

Dimitrov and Others v. Bulgaria

01.07.2014

The case concerned the death of a suspect in drug trafficking and pimping during a police operation.

Violation of Article 2

Violation of Article 3 (prohibition of inhuman or degrading treatment)

No violation of Article 6 § 1 (right to a fair trial/hearing)

Nencheva and Others v. Bulgaria

18.06.2013

Fifteen children and young adults died between 15 December 1996 and 14 March 1997 in a home for physically and mentally disabled young people in the village of Dzhurkovo, from the effects of cold and shortages of food, medicines and basic necessities. The manager of the home, observing the problems, had tried without success on several occasions to alert all the public institutions which had direct responsibility for funding the home and which could have been expected to act.

The Court found a violation of Article 2 in that the authorities had failed in their duty to protect the lives of the vulnerable children placed in their care from a serious and immediate threat. The authorities had also failed to conduct an effective official investigation into the deaths, occurring in highly exceptional circumstances.

Cases dealing with inhuman and/or degrading treatment (article 3)

D v. Bulgaria (no. 29447/17)

20.07.2021

The case concerned the arrest at the border between Bulgaria and Romania of a Turkish journalist claiming to be fleeing from a risk of political persecution in his own country, and his immediate removal to Turkey. The events occurred three months after the 2016 attempted coup in Turkey.

Violation of Article 3 and violation of Article 13 (right to an effective remedy)

G.S. v. Bulgaria (no. 36538/17)

04.04.2019

The case concerned a Georgian national's complaint that if extradited to Iran, where he faced theft charges, he would be at risk of being flogged.

The Court held that it would be a violation of Article 3 if the applicant were extradited to Iran because of the possible punishment that awaited him there.

Popovi v. Bulgaria

09.06.2016

The case concerned the arrest of Mr Popov, former secretary general of the Ministry of Finance, during a police operation that received extensive media coverage.

Violation of Article 3 (prohibition of inhuman or degrading treatment and lack of effective investigation)

Violation of Article 6 § 2 (presumption of innocence) regarding the statements by the Minister of the Interior on the day of Mr Popov's arrest

No violation of Article 6 § 2 regarding the statements by the Prime Minister and the prosecutor R.V. on the day of Mr Popov's arrest

Violation of Article 8 (right to respect for private and family life) due to the media coverage of Mr Popov's arrest and the search and seizure carried out in Mrs Popova's offices

Violation of Article 13 (right to an effective remedy) taken in conjunction with Articles 3, 6 § 2 and 8

Stoyanov and Others v. Bulgaria
Alexey Petrov v. Bulgaria
Petrov and Ivanova v. Bulgaria

31.03.2016

These cases concerned a number of media-hyped police operations, raising issues similar to those examined by the Court in the case of Gutsanovi v. Bulgaria regarding the prohibition of torture and inhuman or degrading treatment (Article 3) and respect for the accused's presumption of innocence (Article 6 § 2).

For the case of Stoyanov and Others

Violation of Article 3 (prohibition of torture and inhuman or degrading treatment)

Violation and no violation of Article 6 § 2 (presumption of innocence)

Violation of Article 8 (right to respect for private and family life)

Violation of Article 13 (right to an effective remedy) taken in conjunction with Articles 3 and 8

For the case of Alexey Petrov

No violation of Article 3,

Violation and no violation of Article 6 § 2,

Violation of Article 8

For the case of Petrov and Ivanova

Violation of Article 3

Violation and no violation of Article 6 § 2

Violation of Article 13 taken in conjunction with Articles 3 and 6 § 2

S.Z. v. Bulgaria (no. 29263/12)

03.03.2015

The case concerns criminal proceedings brought against individuals responsible for the illegal confinement and rape of the applicant.

Violation of Article 3 on account of the shortcomings in the investigation carried out into the illegal confinement and rape of the applicant, having regard in particular to the excessive delays in the criminal proceedings and the lack of investigation into certain aspects of the offences.

The Court observed that it had already, in over 45 judgments against Bulgaria, found that the authorities had failed to comply with their obligation to carry out an effective investigation and considered that these recurrent shortcomings disclosed the existence of a systemic problem. It considered that it was incumbent on Bulgaria, in cooperation with the Committee of Ministers, to decide which general measures were required in practical terms to prevent other similar violations of the Convention in the future.

Abdu v. Bulgaria

11.03.2014

The applicant in this case complained of the authorities' failure to conduct an investigation into the potentially racist nature of an attack on him.

Violation of Article 3 taken alone and in conjunction with Article 14 (prohibition of discrimination)

Gutsanovi v. Bulgaria

15.10.2013

The case concerned a police operation carried out at the home of Mr Gutsanov, an influential politician, leading to his arrest.

Violation of Article 3

Violation of Article 5 § 3 (right to liberty and security) on account of the unjustified length of detention

Violation of Article 5 § 3 (right to liberty and security) regarding Mr Gutsanov's right to be brought promptly before a judge

Violation of Article 5 § 5 (right to compensation)

Violation of Article 6 § 2 (presumption of innocence) regarding the remarks made by the Prime Minister and the regional public prosecutor

Violation of Article 6 § 2 regarding the remarks of the Interior Minister and the reasons for the Varna Regional Court's decision of 18 May 2010

Violation of Article 8 (right to respect for the home)

Violation of Article 13 (right to an effective remedy) read in conjunction with Articles 3 and 8

26.07.2007

Violation of Article 2 (right to life)
Violation of Article 14 (prohibition of discrimination)

Ognyanova and Choban v. Bulgaria

23.02.2006

Two violations of Article 2 (right to life) in respect of Mr Stefanov's death, and, in that the authorities failed to conduct an effective investigation into Mr Stefanov's death;
Violation of Article 3 (prohibition of inhuman or degrading treatment);
Violation of Article 5 § 1 (right to liberty and security);
Violation of Article 13 (right to an effective remedy); and,
No violation of Article 14 (prohibition of discrimination).

Osman v. Bulgaria

16.02.2006

Two violations of Article 3 (prohibition of inhuman or degrading treatment) on account of the ill-treatment to which the applicants had been subjected, and, on account of the lack of an effective investigation;
No violation of Article 14 (prohibition of discrimination) with regard to the allegations that the ill-treatment was motivated by racial prejudice;
Violation of Article 1 of Protocol No 1 (protection of property)

Krastanov v. Bulgaria

30.09.2004

Two violations of Article 3 (prohibition of inhuman treatment) concerning the applicant's ill-treatment by police officers and the Bulgarian authorities failure to conduct a thorough and effective investigation into the ill-treatment
Violation of Article 6 § 1 (right to a fair hearing)

Angelova v. Bulgaria

13.06.2002

Two violations of Article 2 (right to life)
Violation of Article 3 (prohibition of inhuman or degrading treatment)
Violation of Article 5 (right to liberty and security)
Violation of Article 13 (right to an effective remedy)

Cases concerning conditions of detention in prisons and pre-trial detention facilities

Neshkov and Others v. Bulgaria

27.01.2015 (pilot judgment)¹

Violation of Article 3
Violation of Article 13 (right to an effective remedy)

The applicants' cases, as well as many other similar cases – the Court having already decided more than 20 cases leading to 25 violations of the Convention and there being approximately 40 more applications concerning detention conditions in Bulgaria currently pending before the Court – highlight a systemic problem within the Bulgarian prison system, justifying a pilot-judgment procedure because of the serious and persistent nature of the problems identified.

Harakchiev and Tolumov v. Bulgaria

08.07.2014

Violation of Article 3 as concerned the regime and conditions of Mr Harakchiev's and Mr Tolumov's detention
Violation of Article 13 (right to an effective remedy) as concerned the lack of effective domestic remedies in respect of the conditions of Mr Harakchiev's and Mr Tolumov's detention
Violation of Article 3, as concerned Mr Harakchiev's inability to obtain a reduction of his sentence of life

¹ The pilot judgment procedure was developed as a technique of identifying structural problems underlying repetitive cases against many countries and imposing an obligation on member States to address those problems. Where the Court receives several applications that share a root cause, it can select one or more for priority treatment under the pilot procedure. In a pilot judgment, the Court's task is not only to decide whether a violation of the Convention occurred in the specific case but also to identify the systemic problem and to give the Government clear indications of the type of remedial measures needed to resolve it.

imprisonment without commutation from the time when it became final

Jordan Petrov v. Bulgaria

24.01.2012

Violation of Article 3 in respect of ill-treatment by the police and prison guards, the lack of effective investigation into those events and the conditions of detention at Varna Prison

No violation of Article 3 in respect of the alleged lack of medical care

Violation of Article 6 § 1 (right to a fair trial) in respect of the use of confessions obtained in breach of Article 3

Violation of Article 8 (right to respect for private and family life) in respect of the monitoring of the applicant's correspondence with his lawyer

Violation of Article 13 (right to an effective remedy) in respect of the poor conditions of detention at Varna Prison

No violation of Article 13 in respect of the monitoring of correspondence

These cases concerned the applicants' complaints about unreasonable length of proceedings. More importantly, they also concerned the effectiveness of two new administrative and judicial compensatory remedies introduced by the Bulgarian authorities following two pilot judgments³. These remedies were intended to enable victims of unreasonably lengthy proceedings, including people who had already lodged an application with the Court in this regard, to obtain monetary compensation.

² Systemic problem in Bulgarian's justice system, namely, the absence of effective legal remedies for excessive length of civil, administrative and criminal proceedings.

Although no long-term practice had been established in this domain, the Court considered that it could not be assumed at this current stage that the Bulgarian authorities and courts applying the new remedies provisions of the Acts would not give proper effect to them. Therefore, the new remedies could be regarded as effective. Moreover, it considered that mere doubts about the effective functioning of a newly created statutory remedy did not dispense the applicants from having recourse to it. Since the applicants had not apparently brought such proceedings and no special circumstances absolved them from doing so, their complaints were rejected for non-exhaustion of domestic remedies.

Koychev v. Bulgaria

13.10.2020

The applicant claimed to be the biological father of a child born outside marriage, and complained of the fact that his actions to have his paternity recognised had been rejected on the grounds that the child had been recognised by another man, the mother's new husband.

Violation of Article 8

Marin Yosifov v. Bulgaria

13.10.2020

The case concerns criminal proceedings for corruption brought against a mayor. The applicant complained of being detained for four days (for 24 hours on police orders and for a further 72 hours on an order of the public prosecutor) without being brought before a judge. He also complained about the search carried out at his office, which in his view was incompatible with the requirements of Article 8 of the European Convention on Human Rights.

Violation of Article 8

Y.T. v. Bulgaria \(no. 41701/16\)

09.07.2020

The case concerned a transsexual (Y.T.) who had taken steps to change his physical appearance and whose request for (female to male) gender reassignment had been refused by the Bulgarian courts.

He claimed that he had become aware of his male gender identity during adolescence and that he had lived in society as a man.

Violation of Article 8

Vetsev v. Bulgaria

02.05.2019
