Tarakhel v. Switzerland

04.11.2014

Refusal of the Swiss authorities to examine the asylum application of an Afghan couple and their six children and decision to send them back to Italy.

Violation of Article 3 (prohibition of inhuman or degrading treatment) if the Swiss authorities were to send the applicants back to Italy under the Dublin Regulation¹ without having first obtained individual guarantees from the Italian authorities that the applicants would be taken charge of in a manner adapted to the age of the children and that the family would be kept together.

Gross v. Switzerland

30.09.2014

The case concerned the complaint of an elderly woman – who had wished to end her life but had not been suffering from a clinical illness – that she had been unable to obtain the Swiss authorities' permission to be provided with a lethal dose of a drug in order to commit suicide.

In its Chamber judgment in the case on 14 May 2013, the Court held that there had been a violation of Article 8 (right to respect for private and family life) of the Convention. It found in particular that Swiss law was not clear enough as to when assisted suicide was permitted. The case was subsequently referred to the Grand Chamber at the request of the Swiss Government.

In January 2014 the Swiss Government informed the Court that it had learned that the applicant had died in November 2011.

In its Grand Chamber judgment of 30 September 2014, the Court came to the conclusion that the applicant had intended to mislead the Court on a matter concerning the very core of her complaint. In particular, she had taken special precautions to prevent information about her death from being disclosed to her counsel, and thus to the Court, in order to prevent the latter from discontinuing the proceedings in her case. The Court therefore found that her conduct had constituted an abuse of the right of individual application (Article 35 §§ 3 (a) and 4 of the Convention). As a result of the Grand Chamber judgment, the findings of the Chamber judgment of 14 May 2013, which had not become final, are no longer legally valid.

Cases regarding Article 6

Nait-Liman v. Switzerland

15.03.2018

The case concerned the refusal by the Swiss courts to examine Mr Nait-Liman's civil claim for compensation for the non-pecuniary damage arising from acts of torture allegedly inflicted on him in Tunisia. No violation of Article 6 § 1 (right of access to a court)

Al-Dulimi and Montana Management Inc. v. Switzerland

21.06.2016

The case concerned the freezing of the assets in Switzerland of Mr Al-Dulimi and the company Montana Management Inc. pursuant to UN Security Council Resolution 1483 (2003), which provided for sanctions against the former Iraqi regime.

Violation of Article 6 § 1 (right to a fair trial)

Private and family life

Nada v. Switzerland

12.09.2012

Restrictions on the applicant's cross-border movement and inclusion of his name to a list annexed to a federal Ordinance, in the context of the implementation by Switzerland of United Nations Security Council counter-terrorism resolutions.

Violation of Article 8

Violation of Article 8 taken together with Article 13 (right to an effective remedy)

Neulinger and Shuruk v. Switzerland

06.07.2010

In this case, the applicant complained about the Swiss authorities' decision that the return of her child to Israel could be envisaged and was in the child's interests.

N.A. v. Switzerland \(no. 50364/14\)

A.I. v. Switzerland \(no. 23378/15\)

30.05.2017

The cases concerned the decisions of the Swiss authorities to deport the applicants to Sudan after rejecting their applications for asylum.

In N.A. v. Switzerland the Court held in particular that the applicant's political activities in exile, which were limited to merely participating in the activities of the opposition organisations in exile, were not reasonably liable to attract the attention of the intelligence services and found accordingly that the applicant did not run a risk of ill-treatment or torture in the event of his return to Sudan.

No violation of Article 2 or Article 3 \(prohibition of inhuman or degrading treatment\)

In A.I. v. Switzerland the Court held in particular that, on account of his political activities in exile, it was possible that the applicant had attracted the attention of the Sudanese intelligence services. It found that there were therefore reasonable grounds for believing that the applicant ran the risk of being detained, interrogated and tortured on his arrival at Khartoum Airport.

Violation of Article 2 and of Article 3 \(prohibition of inhuman or degrading treatment\)

Scavuzzo-Hager and Others v. Switzerland

07.02.2006

The case concerned the death of a young drug addict who, when arrested by two cantonal police officers, was in a state of extreme intoxication and lost consciousness. He died two days later in Bellinzona Hospital.

Violation of Article 2 \(first finding against Switzerland under this Article\)

Inhuman or degrading treatment

M.O. v. Switzerland (no. 41282/16)

20.06.2017

The case concerned the complaint brought by an Eritrean asylum seeker that he would be at risk of ill-treatment if deported from Switzerland to his country of origin. The applicant essentially claimed before the Swiss authorities that he was a deserter from military service and, following a period of imprisonment, had escaped and left Eritrea illegally. The authorities found that his asylum claim was not credible and ordered his removal.

The Court decided that there would be no violation of Article 3 of the European Convention if the expulsion order against the applicant, Mr M.O, were implemented.

Freedom of expression

GRA Stiftung gegen Rassismus und Antisemitismus v. Switzerland

09.01.2018

The case concerned a complaint by a non-governmental organisation that its right to freedom of expression had been infringed because the domestic courts had found that it had defamed a politician by classifying his remarks at a speech during a campaign ahead of a 2009 referendum on banning minarets in Switzerland as "verbal racism".

Violation of Article 10

Y. v. Switzerland (no. 22998/13)

06.06.2017

The case concerned the fining of a journalist for reporting information covered by the secrecy of a judicial investigation.

No violation of Article 10

Haldimann and Others v. Switzerland

24.02.2015

The case concerned the conviction of four journalists for having recorded and broadcast an interview of a private insurance broker using a hidden camera, as part of a television documentary intended to denounce the misleading advice provided by insurance brokers.

In this case, the Court was for the first time called on to examine an application concerning the use of hidden cameras by journalists to provide public information on a subject of general interest, whereby the person filmed was targeted not in any personal capacity but as a representative of a particular professional category.

Violation of Article 10

Schweizerische Radio- und Fernsehgesellschaft SRG v. Switzerland

21.06.2012

The case concerned the refusal to allow a television station to carry out a televised interview inside a prison with a prisoner serving a sentence for murder. The applicant company had intended to broadcast the interview in one of the longest-running programmes on Swiss television.

Violation of Article 10

08.10.2009

The case concerned a journalist who was denied access to the World Economic Forum in Davos.

Violation of Article 10

Foglia v. Switzerland

13.12.2007

The case concerned a judicial decision against a lawyer on account of statements he had made to the press in connection with pending criminal proceedings (concerning the alleged embezzlement of significant amounts by the former president of Lugano Football Club, who had been found dead in Lake Lugano).

Violation of Article 10

Monnat v. Switzerland

21.09.2006

The case concerned the sanctions imposed on a journalist and the restrictions on the sale of a television report produced by him, following a judgment in which the Swiss Federal Court upheld viewers' complaints about the broadcasting of the report, which concerned Switzerland's role during the Second World War.

Violation of Article 10

Dammann v. Switzerland

25.04.2006

The case concerned a journalist's conviction for "incitement to disclose an official secret" after attempting to obtain information from the public prosecutor's office by telephone concerning a spectacular robbery.

Violation of Article 10

Freedom of assembly and association

Association Rhino and Others v. Switzerland

11.10.2011

The case concerned the dissolution of a squatters' association whose aims had been found to be unlawful.

It is the first violation of the freedom of association by Switzerland.

Violation of Article 11

Discrimination

Belli and Arquier-Martinez v. Switzerland

11.12.2018

The case concerned the decision taken in respect of Ms Belli, who is deaf and incapable of discernment owing to a severe disability affecting her since birth, discontinuing her entitlement to a special invalidity benefit and a disability allowance on the grounds that she was no longer resident in Switzerland. The domestic legislation required persons in receipt of non-contributory benefits, like Ms Belli, to be habitually resident in Switzerland, whereas persons in receipt of an ordinary invalidity-insurance benefit who had contributed to the scheme could take up residence abroad.

No violation of Article 14 (prohibition of discrimination) taken together with Article 8 (right to respect for private and family life)

di Trizio v. Switzerland

02.02.2016

Inadmissibility decision

Glaisen v. Switzerland

18.07.2019

The applicant, who is paraplegic, uses a wheelchair. His complaint concerned his inability to gain access to a cinema in Geneva.

Application declared inadmissible.

In the present case, the European Court was of the view that the Federal Court had given sufficient reasons to explain why the situation faced by Mr Glaisen was not serious enough to fall within the notion of discrimination. The European Court thus saw no cause to go against the findings of the Federal Court, which had held that the Convention did not oblige Switzerland to adopt, in its domestic legislation, a concept of discrimination of the kind sought by Mr Glaisen. It followed that the applicant was not entitled to rely on Article 8 of the Convention.

Application communicated to the Government in February 2016

The applicant, a Romanian national of Roma origin, was ordered to pay a fine, under the cantonal criminal legislation on begging, for begging on the streets of Geneva.

Ms Lăcătuș alleges violations of Articles 8 (right to respect for private life), 10 (freedom of expression) and 14 (prohibition of discrimination) of the Convention, and also of Article 6 (right to a fair trial), on the grounds that the police confiscated CHF 16.75 from her during a search without issuing a seizure order as required by domestic law.
