Noteworthy cases, judgments delivered

Grand Chamber

Humpert and Others v. Germany

16.02.2021

The case concerned the sanctions imposed on the applicants, teachers with civil servant status, for going on strike in order to improve their working conditions.

No violation of Article 11 (freedom of assembly and association)

Hanan v. Germany

16.02.2021

The case concerned the investigations carried out following the death of the applicant's two sons in an airstrike near Kunduz, Afghanistan, ordered by a colonel of the German contingent of the International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) commanded by NATO.

No violation of Article 2 (right to life)

Inseher v. Germany

04.12.2018

The case concerned the lawfulness of a convicted murderer's subsequent preventive detention.

No violation of Article 5 § 1 (right to liberty and security) on account of the applicant's preventive detention from 20 June 2013 onwards as a result of the impugned order for his subsequent preventive detention

No violation of Article 7 § 1 (no punishment without law) on account of the applicant's preventive detention from 20 June 2013 onwards as a result of the impugned order for his subsequent preventive detention

No violation of Article 5 § 4 (right to have lawfulness of detention decided speedily by a court) on account of the duration of the proceedings for review of the applicant's provisional preventive detention

No violation of Article 6 § 1 (right to a fair trial) on account of the alleged lack of impartiality of Judge P. in the main proceedings concerning the order for the applicant's subsequent preventive detention

Khan v. Germany

21.09.2016

The case concerned an expulsion order against Ms Khan, who had committed a murder in Germany in a state of mental incapacity.

The Court decided to strike the application out of the list of cases in pursuance of Article 37 § 1 (c) of the Convention.

The Court considered that there was no justification for continuing the examination of the application, since the German Government had given an assurance that Ms Khan would not be expelled under the 4 June 2009 expulsion order against which her application had been directed.

Schatschaschwili v. Germany

15.12.2015

The case concerned the complaint by a man convicted of aggravated robbery and extortion, who maintained that his trial had been unfair, as neither he nor his counsel had had an opportunity at any stage of the proceedings to question the only direct witnesses to one of the crimes allegedly committed.

Violation of Article 6 §§ 1 and 3 (d) (right to a fair trial and right of a person charged with a criminal offence to examine or have examined witnesses against him)

Herrmann v. Germany

26.06.2012

The case concerned a landowner's complaint about being forced to accept hunting on his land, even though he is morally opposed to hunting.

Violation of Article 1 of Protocol No. 1 (protection of property)

The Court held in particular that the obligation to tolerate hunting on their property imposed a disproportionate burden on landowners in Germany who were opposed to hunting for ethical reasons. The Court thereby followed its findings in two previous judgments concerning hunting legislation in France and Luxembourg.

Concerning the publication of photographs in the press

Axel Springer AG v. Germany

07.02.2012

The case concerned the prohibition by the German courts of two newspaper articles about the arrest and the criminal conviction of a well-known TV actor. The applicant company invoked Article 10 (freedom of press). Jurisdiction was relinquished in favour of the Grand Chamber.

Violation of Article 10 \(freedom of expression\)

See also press release in German for the cases Von Hannover and Springer.

von Hannover v. Germany

07.02.2012

Complaint about the refusal of the German courts to prohibit the publication of holiday photos of the applicants (Princess Caroline von Hannover – daughter of the late Prince Rainier III of Monaco – and her husband Prince Ernst August von Hannover) taken without their consent. The impugned decisions were delivered after the Court's Caroline von Hannover judgment of 24.06.2004 (see below). The applicants relied on Article 8 (right to respect for private and family life). Jurisdiction was relinquished in favour of the Grand Chamber.

No violation of Article 8 \(right to respect for private and family life\)

Gäfgen v. Germany \(no. 22978/05\)

01.07.2010

Convicted of kidnapping and killing a child, the applicant alleged that the police threatened him with torture to make him reveal where the child was (at a time when they believed the boy to be still alive), and that evidence obtained by coercion was used against him in trial.

Violation of Article 3 \(prohibition of torture and inhuman treatment\)

No violation of Article 6 \(right to a fair trial\)

See also press release in German.

Mooren v. Germany

09.07.2009

Lack of speedy review of the lawfulness of the applicant's pre-trial detention – on suspicion of tax evasion – and refusal to grant the applicant's counsel access to the case file in the proceedings.

Violation of Article 5 § 4 \(right to have lawfulness of detention decided speedily by a court\)

No violation of Article 5 § 1 \(right to liberty and security\)

Jalloh v. Germany

11.07.2006

Administration of an emetic by force to the applicant (who was suspected of drug trafficking) to make him regurgitate bags containing drugs he was believed to have swallowed when arrested. The drugs were subsequently used as evidence in the criminal proceedings against him.

Violation of Article 3 \(prohibition of inhuman or degrading treatment\)

Violation of Article 6 \(right to a fair trial\)

Sürmeli v. Germany

08.06.2006

The case concerned the length of proceedings before the national courts. The Court concluded that a constitutional complaint to the Federal Constitutional Court could not be considered an effective remedy against excessively long court proceedings that were still pending.

Violation of Article 13 \(right to an effective remedy\)

Violation of Article 6 § 1 \(right to a fair hearing\)

Jahn and others v. Germany

30.06.2005

The applicants were required after the German reunification to relinquish, without compensation, land allocated to their ascendants in the former Soviet-occupied zone.

No violation of Article 1 of Protocol No. 1 \(protection of property\) taken alone and in conjunction with Article 14 \(prohibition of discrimination\)

Sahin v. Germany & Sommerfeld v. Germany

08.07.2003

Refusal of German courts to grant two fathers access to their children born out of wedlock.

Violation of Article 14 \(prohibition of discrimination\) in conjunction with Article 8 \(right to respect for private and family life\)

No violation of Article 8 taken alone

Prince Hans-Adam II of Liechtenstein v. Germany

12.07.2001

The monarch of Liechtenstein alleged in particular that he had no effective access to court concerning his claim for the restitution of a painting confiscated in 1946 by former Czechoslovakia, while it was in one of the family's castles on the territory of the now Czech Republic.

No violation of Article 6 § 1 \(access to court and fairness of the proceedings\)

No violation of Article 1 of Protocol No. 1 \(protection of property\)

No violation of Article 14 (prohibition of discrimination).

Streletz, Kessler, Krenz, and K.-H.W v. Germany

22.03.2001

The case concerned the post-reunification conviction of East German leaders for murder, because by taking part in high-level decision making they had been instrumental in the deaths of people who had tried to flee to the West between 1971 and 1989. The applicants submitted that the acts on account of which they had been prosecuted did not constitute offences at the time when they were committed and that their conviction by the German courts had therefore been unlawful.

No violation of Article 7 (no punishment without law)

Vogt v. Germany

26.09.1995

Applicant dismissed from civil service (Federal Republic of Germany – prior to reunification) because of her political activities within the German Communist Party (DKP).

Violation of Article 10 (freedom of expression)

Violation of Article 11 (freedom of assembly and association)

Noteworthy cases, judgments delivered

Chamber

Article 2 (right to life)

Gray v. Germany

22.05.2014

The case concerned the death of a patient in his home in the United Kingdom as a result of medical malpractice by a German doctor, who had been recruited by a private agency to work for the British National Health Service. The patient's sons complained that the authorities in Germany, where the doctor was tried and convicted of having caused the death by negligence, had not provided for an effective investigation into their father's death.

No violation of Article 2 (right to life)

Case dealing with Article 3 (prohibition of inhuman and degrading treatment)

Hentschel and Stark v. Germany

09.11.2017

The case concerned the complaint by two football supporters of having been ill-treated by the police following a match and of the inadequacy of the ensuing investigation.

No violation of Article 3 in respect of the applicants' treatment by the police
Violation of Article 3 in respect of the investigation into their allegations

Wenner v. Germany

01.09.2016

The case concerned the complaint by a long-term heroin addict that he had been denied drug substitution therapy in prison.
Violation of Article 3

Hellig v. Germany

07.07.2011

The case concerned the applicant's complaint about being placed naked in a security cell in prison for seven days.

Violation of Article 3

See also press release in German.

Article 5

Preventive detention

Bergmann v. Germany

07.01.2016

The case concerned Mr Bergmann's preventive detention which was retrospectively extended beyond the maximum period of ten years permissible at the time of his offences and conviction.

No violation of Article 5 (right to liberty and security)

No violation of Article 7 (no punishment without law)

This was the first case in which the Court examined the compatibility with the Convention of a convicted offender's preventive detention for therapeutic treatment purposes under the new legal framework governing preventive detention in Germany.

See also press release in German.

H.W. v. Germany (no 17167/11)

19.09.2013

The case concerned the review by the German courts of an offender's placement in preventive detention, which had been ordered by the sentencing court together with his conviction for sexual offences more than twelve years previously.

Violation of Article 5 § 1 \(right to liberty and security\)

Haidn v. Germany

13.01.2011

The case concerned the detention of the applicant for preventive purposes ordered subsequent to his conviction for an indefinite duration after having served his full prison sentence.

Violation of Article 5 § 1 \(right to liberty and security\)

See also press release in German.

Grosskopf v. Germany

21.10.2010

The case concerned the applicant's placement in preventive detention after having served his full prison sentence. The Court held that a prisoner's preventive detention as ordered by the sentencing court does not in itself violate the Convention.

No violation of Article 5 § 1 \(right to liberty and security\)

See also press release in German.

M. v. Germany \(n°19359/04\)

17.12.2009

The Court concluded that the retroactive extension of the preventive detention (Sicherungsverwahrung), of a prisoner considered dangerous to the public violated the Convention.

Violation of Article 5 § 1 \(right to liberty\)

Violation of Article 7 § 1 \(no punishment without law\)

See also press release in German.

On 13.01.2011, the Court delivered judgments in three similar applications, Kallweit, Mautes and Schummer v. Germany. See also press release in German.

Right to a fair trial

Akbay and Others v. Germany

15.10.2020

The case concerned the conviction of the first applicant's husband (N.A.), now deceased, and of the second and third applicants for drug smuggling and their allegation of police entrapment.

Violation of Article 6 § 1 in respect of Yıldız Akbay and Hakkı Soytürk

No violation of Article 6 § 1 in respect of Dervis Usul

Pastörs v. Germany

03.10.2019

The case concerned the conviction of a Land deputy for denying the Holocaust during a speech in the regional Parliament.

No violation of Article 6 § 1

The applicant's complaint under Article 10 \(freedom of expression\) was rejected as manifestly ill-founded

Rook v. Germany

25.07.2019

The case concerned the fairness of criminal proceedings where around 80,000 items of telecommunication surveillance data had been produced and 14 million electronic files seized.

No violation of Article 6 § 1 taken together with Article 6 § 3 \(b\) \(right to adequate time and facilities for the preparation of the defence\)

Harisch v. Germany

11.04.2019

The case concerned civil proceedings, during which the applicant requested a referral to the Court of Justice of the European Union (CJEU).

No violation of Article 6

Madaus v. Germany

09.06.2016

The case concerned the complaint by a person who had brought proceedings under the Criminal Rehabilitation Act on behalf of his late father – who had been subject to expropriation measures in the Soviet Occupied Zone of Germany – that he was not granted the opportunity of an oral hearing.

Violation of Article 6 § 1

Furcht v. Germany

23.10.2014

The case concerned the complaint by a man convicted of drug trafficking that the criminal proceedings against him had been unfair, as he had been incited by undercover police officers to commit the offences of which he was convicted.

Violation of Article 6 § 1

Right to a fair trial within a reasonable time

Chiarello v. Germany

20.06.2019

The case concerned the length of criminal proceedings.

No violation of Article 6 § 1

Presumption of innocence

Demjanjuk v. Germany

24.01.2019

The case concerned the domestic courts' decision not to reimburse John Demjanjuk's necessary expenses although proceedings were discontinued.

No violation of Article 6 § 1 and Article 6 § 2

Wanner v. Germany

22.11.2018

The case concerned the applicant's conviction for giving false testimony as a witness in criminal proceedings against his former accomplices.

Application declared inadmissible as manifestly ill-funded.

El Kaada v. Germany

12.11.2015

The case concerned Mr El Kaada's complaint that the decisions of the German courts revoking the suspension of a prison sentence previously imposed on him had violated his right to be presumed innocent.

Violation of Article 6 § 2

Karaman v. Germany

27.02.2014

The case concerned Mr Karaman's complaint that his right to be presumed innocent was breached on account of references to his participation in a criminal offence in a judgment handed down by a German court in criminal proceedings against several of his co-suspects, who were tried separately from him.

No violation of Article 6 § 2

Cases concerning parental rights (Article 8)

Wunderlich v. Germany

10.01.2019

The case concerned the withdrawal of some aspects of the parents' authority and the removal of the four children from their family home for three weeks, after the applicants persistently refused to send their children to school.

No violation of Article 8

Cabucak v. Germany

20.12.2018

The case concerned the applicant's expulsion to Turkey by the German authorities following several criminal convictions.

No violation of Article 8

The Court found that Mr Cabucak had sufficiently demonstrated that he enjoyed a relationship on a regular basis with his daughter which constituted family life. However, he failed to substantiate that his daughter's interests were adversely affected by his expulsion or why it would significantly increase the risk of further trauma for him.

Tlapak and Others v. Germany Wetjen and Others v. Germany

22.03.2018

The cases concerned the partial withdrawal of parental authority and the taking into care of children belonging to the Twelve Tribes Church (Zwölf Stämme), living in two communities in Bavaria.

No violation of Article 8

See press release in German.

Mitzinger v. Germany

09.02.2017

The case concerned inheritance rights of children born outside marriage. Ms Mitzinger, the applicant, complained that she could not assert her inheritance rights after her father's death in 2009, as she had been born out of wedlock and before a cut-off point provided for by legislation in force at the time. Notably, children born outside marriage before 1 July 1949 were excluded from any statutory entitlement to inherit and from the right to financial compensation.

Violation of Article 14 \(prohibition of discrimination\) in conjunction with Article 8

Kuppinger (no. 2) v. Germany

15.01.2015

The case concerned the complaint by the father of a child born out of wedlock that the proceedings he had brought to enforce court decisions granting him contact rights with his son were excessively long and ineffective.

Violation of Article 8 as regards the execution of an interim decision of May 2010 granting Mr Kuppinger the right to see his son

No violation of Article 8 as regards both the execution of an order on contact custodianship of September 2010 and the proceedings on the review of the contact regulations

Violation of Article 13 \(right to an effective remedy\) in conjunction with Article 8

I.S. v. Germany (no. 31021/08)

05.06.2014

The case concerned a woman's complaint of not being able to have regular contact and receive information about her biological children who had been adopted by another couple.

No violation of Article 8

The Court considered that by consenting to the adoption, Ms S. had knowingly given up all rights as regards her biological children.

Ahrens and Kautzor v. Germany

22.03.12

The cases concerned the German courts' refusal to allow two men to respectively challenge another man's paternity, in one case of the applicant's biological daughter, in the other case of the applicant's presumed biological daughter.

No violation of Article 8

No violation of Article 8 in conjunction with Article 14 \(prohibition of discrimination\)

See also press release in German.

Schneider v. Germany

15.09.2011

Withdrawal of parental authority because the parents did not have the "intellectual capacity required" to bring up their children.

Violation of Article 8

Other cases concerning the respect for private life (Article 8)

A.H. and Others v. Germany

04.04.2023

The case concerned three applicants, the first of whom is a transgender parent (A.H.), who complained that the civil registration authorities had refused to record the first applicant in the register of births as mother of the third applicant (L.D.H.) on the grounds that A.H. had not given birth to the child – to whom G.H. (the second applicant) had given birth – who had in fact been conceived with A.H.'s sperm.

No violation of Article 8

O.H. and G.H. v. Germany

04.04.2023

The case concerned two applicants, a transgender parent (O.H.) and his child, the second applicant (G.H.), to whom he had given birth. They complained about a refusal of the German courts to allow O.H. to be recorded as father of G.H. on the grounds that O.H. had given birth to the child, even though the legal recognition of his gender change to male had already been obtained in 2011, i.e. before the child was conceived in 2013.

No violation of Article 8

Breyer v. Germany

30.01.2020

The case concerned the storage of pre-paid SIM card users' data by telecommunications companies.

No violation of Article 8

Bohlen v. Germany

Ernst August von Hannover v. Germany

19.02.2015

The cases concerned the use in humorous cigarette advertisements of the first names of two public figures in Germany and of news items about them, without their consent. The advertisements in question referred, respectively, to a book published by the musician Dieter Bohlen and to altercations in which Ernst August von Hannover had been involved.

No violation of Article 8

von Hannover v. Germany \(no. 3\)

19.09.2013

The case concerned a complaint lodged by Princess Caroline von Hannover relating to the refusal of the German courts to grant an injunction prohibiting any further publication of a photograph of her and her husband taken without their knowledge while they were on holiday. The photograph was accompanied by an article about the trend amongst the very wealthy towards letting out their holiday homes.

No violation of Article 8

The Court held that the German courts had taken into consideration the essential criteria and the Court's case-law in balancing the different interests at stake in the case.

Koch v. Germany

19.07.2012

The case concerned the German authorities' refusal to grant Mr Koch's late wife, who was almost completely paralysed and in need of artificial ventilation, authorisation to acquire a lethal dose of medication enabling her to commit suicide.

Violation of Article 8

The Court held that the refusal of the German courts to examine the merits of Mr Koch's complaint about that decision, brought on behalf of his wife and on his own behalf, violated his procedural rights under Article 8.

See also press release in German.

Stübing v. Germany

Axel Springer AG \(no. 2\) v. Germany

10.07.2014

The case concerned a German courts' banning order against the publisher of the daily newspaper Bild to further publish newspaper articles about suspicions and doubts on the part of Mr Thiele – deputy president of the Liberal Democratic Party's (FDP) parliamentary group – with regard to the conditions and circumstances preceding former Chancellor Schröder's appointment as chairman of the supervisory board of the German-Russian consortium Konsortium Nordeuropäische Gaspipeline (NEGP).

Violation of Article 10

Brosa v. Germany

17.04.2014

The case concerned a court injunction prohibiting Mr Brosa from distributing a leaflet in which he called not to vote for a candidate for local mayor who allegedly provided cover for a neo-Nazi organisation.

Violation of Article 10

The Court held in particular that the German courts had failed to establish that it was necessary to put the protection of the candidate's personality rights above Mr Brosa's freedom of expression.

Peta Deutschland v. Germany

08.11.2012

The case concerned a civil injunction which prevented the animal rights organisation PETA from publishing a poster campaign featuring photos of concentration camp inmates along with pictures of animals kept in mass stocks.

No violation of Article 10

The Court held in particular that a reference to the Holocaust had to be seen in the specific context of the German past. In that light, the Court accepted that the German courts had given relevant and sufficient reasons for granting the civil injunction.

Heinisch v. Germany

21.07.2011

X v. Germany \(no. 54646/17\)

Decision of 30.11.2017

Relying on Article 3 (prohibition of torture and of inhuman or degrading treatment) of the Convention, M. X complained, in particular, that his removal to Russia would expose him to the risk of being tortured, placed under surveillance, detained or subjected to a forced disappearance. Relying on Article 8 (right to respect for private and family life) of the Convention, he also complained that he would be torn from his family and the country in which he has lived for the past 15 years. Lastly, the applicant alleged under Article 13 (right to an effective remedy) of the Convention that the domestic courts had not sufficiently assessed the situation in which he would find himself if he were deported to Russia.

Application declared inadmissible for non-exhaustion of domestic remedies.

Perelman v. Germany

Decision of 06.07.2017

The application concerned the complaint by a French couple that, on moving to Germany and declaring to the authorities that their religion was "Mosaic", they were considered members of the Frankfurt Jewish community without their consent.

Application declared inadmissible for failure to exhaust domestic remedies.

Nationaldemokratische Partei Deutschlands \(NPD\) v. Germany

Decision of 27.10.2016

The case concerned a political party, the NPD, and its complaint about being referred to and stigmatised as being both far-right and unconstitutional. In particular, the party alleged that there had been a wide range of infringements of its legal rights in Germany (amounting to a de facto ban), and that it had had no means to redress these. Examples of alleged violations included the dismissal of its members from jobs in public service; the inability of the party to open bank accounts; and the prevention of its candidates from standing in elections.

The Court declared the application inadmissible as manifestly ill-founded.

Sihler-Jauch and Jauch v. Germany

Decision of 24 May 2016

The case concerned the publication of an article in the German weekly magazine Bunte about the wedding of a well-known TV presenter, and his and his wife's unsuccessful attempts before the German courts to obtain damages.

Application declared inadmissible as manifestly ill-founded.

Fuchs v. Germany

Decision of 27.01.2015

The case concerned the complaint by a lawyer – relying in particular on Article 10 (freedom of expression) of Convention – of criminal and disciplinary sanctions imposed on him for, among other things, defamatory statements against an expert for the prosecution, which the lawyer had made while representing a client.

Application declared inadmissible as manifestly ill-founded.

Klausecker v. Germany

Perez v. Germany

Decisions of 06.01.2015

The cases concerned complaints related to employment in international organisations – the European Patent Office and the United Nations (UN) – and the alleged lack of access to the national courts in respect of those complaints.

In its decisions in these cases, the Court has – by a majority in the case of Klausecker and unanimously in the case of Perez – declared the applications inadmissible.

Zierd v. Germany

Decision of 08.04.2014

Before the Court, Ms Zierd complained about the forced administration of medication on her late son during detention in a psychiatric hospital.

The applicant relied on Articles 2 (right to life), 3 (prohibition of inhuman or degrading treatment), 5 (right to liberty and security) and 8 (right to respect for private and family life) of the Convention.

The Court decided to strike the application out of its list of cases as it received a proposal of unilateral declaration from the German Government.¹

Baudler, Reuter and Müller v. Germany

Decisions of 06.12.2011

The cases of Baudler and Reuter concerned decisions by the Protestant Church to place one clergyman on leave of absence and to oblige another to take early retirement. The case of Müller concerned a decision by the Salvation Army to terminate the missionary service of two officers. Relying on Article 6 § 1 (right of access to a court), the applicants complained that they did not have access to a court in order to obtain a review of the ecclesiastical measures taken, because the national courts had ruled that the impugned decisions were an internal Church matter and therefore not subject to judicial review.

The Court declared the complaints inadmissible, holding in particular, in the cases of Baudler and Reuter, that the proceedings instituted by the applicants had not related to a right recognised under German law such that Article 6 of the Convention could be brought into play. In the case of Müller, the Court concluded that the applicants could not argue that they had been deprived of the right to obtain a decision on the merits of their claim.

Dojan and others v. Germany

Decision of 13.09.2011

The case concerned the complaints by five married couples about the authorities' refusal to exempt their children from mandatory sex education classes and other school activities which they alleged had constituted a disproportionate restriction of their right to educate their children in conformity with their religious convictions.

The Court declared the complaint inadmissible, holding in particular that there was no indication that the classes and activities at issue had put into question the parents' sexual education of their children based on their religious convictions. Neither had the school authorities manifested a preference for a particular religion or belief within those activities.

¹ In a case before the European Court of Human Rights, where a friendly settlement procedure has been unsuccessful, the respondent Government may make a declaration acknowledging the violation of the European Convention on Human Rights and undertaking to provide the applicant with redress.

Sfountouris and Others v. Germany

Decision of 31.05.2011

The case concerned the refusal of the German courts to award compensation to descendants of the victims of an SS massacre in Greece in 1944. The applicants relied on Article 1 of Protocol No. 1 (protection of property) and Article 14 (prohibition of discrimination).

The Court declared the complaint inadmissible, holding in particular that the applicants had no legitimate expectation to be able to benefit from compensation for the damages sustained.

See also press release in German.

Bock v. Germany

Decision of 19.01.2010

The case concerned the excessive length of proceedings before the administrative court concerning a claim for 7.99 EUR. The applicant complained under Articles 6 § 1 (right to a fair hearing within a reasonable time) and 13 (right to an effective remedy).

The Court considered the complaint an abuse of the right of application.

See also press release in German.

Appel-Irrgang v. Germany

Decision of 06.10.2009

The case concerned mandatory ethics classes for pupils of grade 7 to 10 in Berlin, which the applicants opposed. They relied on Article 9 (freedom of thought, conscience and religion) and Article 2 of Protocol No. 1 (right to education).

The Court declared the complaint inadmissible, holding in particular that according to the law in question the ethics classes' aim was to examine fundamental questions of ethics independently of pupils' cultural, ethnic and religious origins and that the classes were therefore in conformity with the principles of pluralism and objectivity embodied in Article 2 of Protocol No. 1.

von Maltzan and others v. Germany

Decision of 02.03.2005

The cases concerned the indemnification and compensation terms for those whose property was expropriated either after 1949 in the GDR (Eastern Germany) or between 1945 and 1949 in the former Soviet Occupied Zone of Germany. The applicants relied in particular on Article 1 of Protocol

No. 1 (protection of property) and Article 14 (prohibition of discrimination) taken together with Article 1 of Protocol No. 1.

Alosa and Others v. Italy and Germany \(n° 20004/18\)

Case communicated to the Government on 3 November 2019

The case concerns the lack of enforcement of a conviction for homicide.

Following an accident at a German-owned plant in Italy, the Italian courts found the company's management guilty of involuntary manslaughter. Two of the executives, who are German nationals (Mr G.P. and Mr H.E.), were sentenced to six and nine years of detention respectively. The Italian authorities located them in Germany and issued a European arrest warrant.

According to the applicants, Germany refused to hand Mr G.P. and Mr H.E. over to the Italian authorities, but agreed to enforce the sentence passed by Italy; however, that enforcement has still not taken place. According to the applicants, Italy was 10 months late in sending information requested by the German courts following their refusal to execute the European warrant arrest. Furthermore, the applicants allege that the Italian authorities did not actively seek a solution to the problem of the lack of enforcement, whether by using political or diplomatic means, or by using legal measures, in particular infringement proceedings against Germany at the Court of Justice of the European Union.

Relying on Article 2 of the Convention, the applicants complain of the Italian and German authorities' omissions and delays in enforcing the sentence. The applicants also complain of a violation of Article 13 of the Convention as they have not had access to a court or an effective remedy to challenge the delays and omissions in the case.

Türk v. Germany (no. 61347/16)

Case communicated to the Government in September 2018

The case concerns the refusal of a private hospital to continue employing a nurse after she had declared that she would wear a head scarf at work for religious reasons.

The hospital is run by a protestant foundation.

Ms Türk complains under Article 9 of the Convention of an unjustified interference with her freedom of religion.
